

Licensing on-premises products in CSP

Perpetual licenses

- A single, upfront payment is made for perpetual ownership of the license
- No Software Assurance is available to purchase, and no SA benefits are included as part of the license rights
- Use rights are detailed in the Product Terms (<http://bit.ly/2W2vj38>), and are consistent across the different ways that customers can buy licenses

Deployment options

Physical or virtual servers

Server licenses are assigned to a physical server and the product may be deployed in a physical or a virtual operating system environment

Network server usage

Servers must be dedicated to a single customer's use, provided by the customer or an Authorized Outsourcer

Other products are also available: for example, BizTalk Server and the individual Office products

License reassignment

90-day rule applies

Licenses may be reassigned between devices or users, but no more frequently than every 90 days

Exceptions

- Permanent hardware failure
- Termination of a user's employment
- Temporary reallocation for a user's absence or a device that is out of service

Accessing software and keys

Customers can access keys and software directly through the Microsoft 365 Admin Center after purchase

Versions available

- Current versions are available, with previous versions available for some products
- Customers may use existing legally obtained media to install previous versions

Upgrade and downgrade rights

Current version

- A license is purchased for the current version
- If a later version is released, there are no rights to this version

Downgrade rights

- Any prior version may be used
- Permitted lower editions may be used
